LOUISA WOMAN DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS.

THE WIFE OF MR. J. H. PRESTON
GOES TO HER SURE REWARD.

Mrs. Nancy Hays Preston, wife of J. Henry Preston, peacefully passed away at her home on Lock-av, this city last Friday evening about 6 o'clock. Although Mrs. Preston's health had not been good for years, she had been almost an invalid for the past four or five years; her death was unexpected at this time, as she had been cheerful and seemed to feel as well as usual all day. Her trouble was dropsy and heart disease. An hour or less before her death she had undergone an operation for dropsy, such as had been necessary every few weeks lately. After the operation she spoke of how comfortable she was and how well she felt and gave instructions to those around to serve refreshments to friends in the house, showing her thought of "others" to the last. It was not long before she began smothering and was carried to her bed on the sleeping porch where the end came as quietly as if she were going to sleep. Not a struggle nor a sigh marked the last moments of her life.

For two years her condition had been so serious that it was considered remarkable that she continued to live. Yet, she was cheerful and took a lively interest in everything. The funeral took place Sunday afternoon, July 9th, at the residence. Hundreds of friends paid a final tribute with their presence, their tears, and flowers. The house, the large porch and the yard were filled with sorrowing neighbors. The services were conducted by Mrs. Preston's pastor, Rev. L. E. McElwain, assisted by Revs. H. B. Hewlett and N. H. Young. Mr. McElwain's tribute to the deceased was beautiful and touching. Her Christianity was of a type and degree that justified the strong endorsement given by the pastor who had often ministered to her at the bedside. Songs which she had selected for the occasion were beautifully sung by the choir.

The interment on Pine Hill took place immediately after the conclusion of the services at the residence. Automobiles carried a considerable number of friends to the cemetery. The pall bearers were Dr. T. D. Burgess, A. O. Carter, A. M. Hughes, M. S. Burns, A. L. Burton and M. F. Conley.

Mrs. Preston was born March 27, 1865, being 51 years old at her death. She was married Dec. 11, 1884. Her father was John Hays, of Charley, one of the county's wealthiest citizens. Mr. and Mrs. Preston moved to Louisa about 1889. Three daughters were born to them, Ella, Beulah and Elizabeth. The two older ones died in their 21st year, and Elizabeth died several years ago at the age of twelve, leaving the parents childless. The children were victims of tuberculosis. The parents took them to climates more favorable than this, the hope of effecting a cure, but it was all in vain.

The dates of the burial of the three daughters were Elizabeth, December 5, 1902; Ella, November 29, 1906; and Beulah, May 3, 1908. Mrs. Preston had been a member of the M. E. Church South for more than sixteen years. Her devotion to the church was unusual, and a more devout Christian can not be found. She was interested in every phase of religious work. The subject of the new building to be erected by her church was one of intense interest up to the hour of her death. Often she expressed a hope that she might live to worship in the new structure. She and her thoroughly Christian husband were among the largest contributors to the building fund and also to the support of the ministry. Mrs. Preston had not been able to attend church services for more than a year. The last time she was out in town was during the Christmas holidays, when she was taken out in a wheel chair.

Mrs. Preston was a devoted wife and loving mother, gentle and kind to all. Her good husband cared for her most tenderly during her long illness. A trained nurse was kept with her for a year or more. Mrs. Preston was in full sympathy with her work at all times. To him there goes out the most profound sympathy.

Among those who were called here by the death of Mrs. J. H. Preston were the following relatives:

Messrs. L. Hays, Green Hays, Jno. Hays and Major Hays, and Miss Ethel Hays, of Charley, brothers and niece of Mrs. Preston; Mrs. Mary S. Ward, of Paintsville; and Mrs. Lizzie Stapleton, of River, sisters of Mr. Preston; Messrs. Cyrus Preston, of Thekla, Ed. Preston, of Thekla, and F. B. Preston, of Lackey, half brothers of Mr. Preston; Mr. Dan Wheeler, of Paintsville; Mr. L. A. Ward, of Williamstown, W. Va.; and Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Hatten, of Buchanan. Others from Charley started in automobiles Sunday, but were delayed and did not reach here.

In honor of Master Charles Allen Gault, of Logan, W. Va., some little girls and boys were entertained at the Remmele home on Lock-av, last Friday evening. After a delightful time spent on the lawn the little folks were seated on a large rug and delicious ice cream was served. The party was taken for a walk to the locks and later visited the picture show. The children were told not to call it a party, but it was such a good imitation of one that the fifteen guests had a mighty nice time.

The three boys are now in the Scioto county Children's Home.

YOUNG MAN OF FT. GAY ELECTROCUTED

TAYLOR RATCLIFF INSTANTLY KILLED BY TOUCHING A LIVE WIRE.

Taylor Ratcliff, son of Wm. Ratcliff, of Fort Gay, was killed near Akron, Ohio, on Tuesday of this week. He was employed by the Ohio Telephone company and was alone when killed. It is thought he was electrocuted by the telephone wire coming in contact with a high tension line carrying a heavy voltage. The accident happened while Ratcliff was strapping to a telephone pole near the top. He had been dead for quite a while, evidently, when discovered.

Ratcliff was about 23 years old and was a reliable, highly respected young man. The body arrived Thursday and was buried in the David Bartram burial grounds.

BLOW ON EAR RESTORED HEARING.

A. Royer, who claims his home as Pittsburg, can hear today out of his left ear for the first time in seven years as a result of a blow on the side of the ear from the fist of a fellow prisoner in the city bastille last night during a fight which occurred there during which several of the prisoners received badly discolored faces. When Royer was arraigned the Judge announced he could hear after seven years' deafness and he besought the Judge to let him go home at once so he could break the news to relatives. The Judge, who always rejoices in any one's good luck, told Royer to go his way and in no more. Royer heard him the first time and was not long in shaking the dust of the city off his feet.—Ashland Independent.

Miss Jessie Crank, age 31, daughter of C. C. Cranke, of Yatesville, was killed in an automobile accident at San Francisco Tuesday. The body will be brought home for burial. She went there five years ago with a brother and was employed as a stenographer.

Miss Crank was a daughter of one of our good citizens. She is said by those who knew her to have been a bright young lady. As a stenographer she had "made good" in San Francisco and was filling a desirable position. Her untimely death is very sad and a great shock to all her friends and relatives.

PAT WITHROW AT LOUISA.

Pat Withrow, superintendent of the Union Mission at Charleston, W. Va., came to Louisa last Saturday afternoon and held a service at the court house that evening. Sunday morning also, at the same place, he preached to a large congregation. The "Saturday" night audience was not as large as the service deserved, but it is always difficult to get a good sized gathering on Saturday evening. It was a remarkable service, intensely interesting and very impressive. By request of his friend, Rev. McElwain, Mr. Withrow related in detail a trip he made to Washington to get an interview with Wm. J. Bryan and later with Vice President Marshall, resulting in taking the latter to Charleston to help in an important fight against the bad conditions in the city.

On Sunday morning the sermon was on the power of prayer. Personal experiences were used to prove his text and his assertions that all proper things may be accomplished through prayer. He is one of the rarest exemplifications of an intense Christian character. His faith is so strong and so evident as to produce an unusual impression upon his hearers.

Withrow was a bar tender and bootlegger until converted. He is now doing as great work in the rescue line as can be found anywhere. The secret of it all is his great faith, his earnestness, his enthusiasm, his deep consecration, his simple and unaffected manner, his intense desire to save souls.

It is to be hoped we may be able to get him to Louisa for a series of services later on.

The two Methodist churches joined in the worship on these occasions.

JAILED FOR KILLING AFTER THREE MONTHS IN HIDING.

After evading arrest for over three months, Godfrey Blankenship, charged with killing Harrison McCoy, on Knox Creek, Pike-co., has been captured and is now in the county jail at Pikeville, without bail, according to news received here this morning.

Following the shooting, which occurred March 20, Blankenship fled to the mountains and despite the vigilance of officers and several posses, managed to remain at large until Friday. The killing is said to have been the result of an old feud. Blankenship, it is said, will plead self-defense as McCoy, it is claimed, had a gun and upon meeting Blankenship indulged in some words which Blankenship construed as a threat.

CHAS. B. MEYERS DIES IN DENVER.

Capt. William Meyers, of Ashland, well known C. & O. conductor, received a telegram informing him that his son, Chas. B. Meyers, had died Monday night at his home in Denver, Colo. The news came as a great surprise and a shock to Mr. Meyers and to other relatives of the deceased as it was not known that he was critically ill. He had not been well for some time, but his condition was not deemed immediately serious.

Charles Meyers is well and favorably known in Ashland, where he was born and reared. He has been residing for the past four years in Denver, where he was employed as chief engineer in one of the government buildings. He was thirty-eight years of age and is survived by Mrs. Meyers and son, his father and the following brothers: William, of Covington; Buford, of Virginia; Frank, of Logan, W. FATAL ACCIDENT TO A LITTLE GIRL

DAUGHTER OF MRS. GREER, OF LOUISA, KILLED BY A SHOT.

Othie Fairchild, of Louisa, was accidentally shot and fatally wounded at Salyersville Tuesday. She died the following day and the body was buried at that place.

The above paragraph tells the sad ending of the following story that was put into type when the first news reached us. Mrs. Greer, of this city, was called to Salyersville Tuesday by a telephone message announcing that her daughter who was visiting there had been accidentally shot in the thigh. Mrs. Greer left on the evening train for her daughter's bedside.

The little girl, Othie Fairchild, is seven years of age and was visiting relatives near Salyersville. She is the daughter of Mrs. Greer by a former marriage. The Greers live on Madison-st., next door to the Southern Methodist parsonage. No particulars of the shooting have been learned here.

FALSE REPORT CORRECTED.

Mr. F. E. Cassidy writes from Paintsville saying that the report that he is married is untrue. The item came in last week bearing the signature of a friend of the parties and we had no reason to doubt the truth of it. However, we are very glad to make the correction.

Miss Bessie Thompson, of Normal, who was the other party to the affair, desires to have the NEWS say that the report was a mistake.

GRAYSON ITEMS.

The following is from the Grayson items in Ashland Independent: G. W. Atkinson and wife of Louisa called on Bro. Neal and wife Sunday. R. B. says he hopes to interest him in the water works proposition for our town.

Mr. Marcum, the popular C. and O. agent at Louisa and Supt. of the Bible school of the Christian church with his wife and family were welcome visitors at R. B. Neal's Sunday. They came through in their Ford. Bro. Neal now has a Ford, Maxwell and an Overland at his command for a trip to Ashland and Catlettsburg and Louisa. Wonder which one he will take.

Last but not least was Haskell Lee, a student from Johnson Bible College, Gimberlin Heights, Tenn. He is a safe and sane chauffeur and the Grayson girls, a number of them were "delighted" and want him to come again, soon and often.

Mrs. Fanny Flowers and mother, Mrs. Mitchell have moved to Glenhays, W. Va. Mrs. Flowers has been a friend of Ironton many years, and her many friends are sorry to know she has left Ironton.—Ironton News.

COUNTY SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.

INTERESTING ANNUAL GATHER-ING HELD AT BLAINE RECENTLY.

After weeks of preparation on the part of the Sunday school workers of the county Saturday morning, June 24th, dawned with a cloudy sky and many other indications of rain. Previously it had been decided that several automobiles should make the journey to the town of Blaine to the Lawrence County Sunday School Convention, each one carrying a full quota of delegates. But of that number only two went. One car was driven by Mr. Gus Snyder and carried the following persons: M. S. Burns, A. O. Carter, W. J. Vaughan and Willie Vaughan; the other party was composed of Mrs. Geo. Atkinson, Miss Althea Silvers, Mr. Haskell Lee, Mr. C. B. Wellman and another, whose name I do not know.

At 7 o'clock we started on that 25 mile automobile trip, defeated yet undaunted. As we climbed the hills and sped along through the valleys the conversation ranged everywhere from religion to politics and now and then an outburst of laughter announced that one more rough place had been crossed. But to make the journey more pleasant "old Sol" poured through a rent in the clouds a flood of golden sunshine, which brought an exclamation of joy from the travelers. After about two and one half hours we began to coast down the Hood hill and saw nestling at its foot the little town of Blaine and then realized that we had reached our destiny.

At 10 o'clock the convention began with a moderately good congregation, all of which were men, a very rare occurrence. Immediately after calling the convention to order the county president, M. S. Burns, read the 23rd psalm upon which Rev. Gross of the M. E. Church of Blaine prayed. The music for the morning session was furnished by the choir from Cordell. The welcome address was delivered by G. W. Kouns of Blaine. In a very appropriate manner he bade us welcome in to the homes of the people of Blaine. He said also "a convention always brings an inspiration to me," and it is our hope that everyone who attended the convention had the same experience. To this welcome Hon. A. O. Carter, of Louisa, responded in a manner that did himself honor and justice. It was hoped that Mr. Geo. A. Joplin, the general secretary of the Kentucky Sunday School Association, could be present at this convention, but it was impossible and the field worker brought the message in his stead. One part of which was that Lawrence county has had only two Presidents in the 25 years of its history and they were both lawyers and each named Burns. Another was that only six have served in the capacity of secretary and of this number three have been Vaughans. Also that Lawrence was the first banner county in the mountains and that today Lawrence has more schools than any other county in Eastern Kentucky.

The next speaker on the program was Mr. C. R. Holbrook, whose subject was "Seeing Visions." Mr. Holbrook quoted many examples from the Bible and then told us of the Visions that Fanny Crosby, though blind, "had seen" and in a fitting manner read to the convention one of the beautiful hymns that Fanny Crosby had composed while in that state of blindness. The convention was then adjourned until the afternoon.

After a dinner that would satisfy a king, the convention again convened. After the devotional service the report of the county secretary was read and accepted. The president appointed the following committees on nominations: W. J. Vaughan, G. W. Kouns and S. H. Burton. On resolutions: A. W. Osborne, C. F. Osborn and Miss Pearl Walker. Rev. H. C. Bitner of Webbville, Rev. Gross and W. J. Vaughan spoke along lines of Sunday school work and the convention was adjourned for supper.

The music for the evening service was furnished by the local choir. W. J. Vaughan then spoke on "The Sunday school and the kingdom movement" in which he said that "the purpose of the Sunday school is to make the Bible a better known book, a better loved book, and a better obeyed book."

After a refreshing sleep in the generous homes of Blaine we began the last session of the convention. The sky was clear, the sun beamed forth with all its radiance, and in general the weather was ideal and as a result the audience that in first session was composed only of men was fairly well divided, if anything a majority of the women, at least 150 present.

The first thing on the program was the Sunday school lesson taught by one of the best Sunday school teachers in the county, C. R. Holbrook. The nominating committee reported as follows: For President, M. S. Burns; Vice President, A. O. Carter; Secretary, W. H. Vaughan; Asst. Secretary, A. W. Osborne. And the department officers were nominated as follows: Mr. Jennie Bromley, J. M. Cain, C. B. Wellman, Prof. E. M. Kennison, Mrs. G. W. Atkinson, C. C. Burton, M. G. Berry, and Mrs. R. L. Vinson. The committee on resolutions reported a list of six resolutions one of which was "Resolved 3rd that we extend our appreciation and thanks to the editors of the Big Sandy News and the Herald, because of the uniform kindness and courtesy extended by each of them to officials of the Lawrence County Sunday School Association. They have published without charge official announcements and other matters of interest to the Sunday school workers which has been of great assistance to the cause and explains partly why Lawrence county had more than 5000 people in Sunday school on May 7, 1916."

The remainder of the day passed very rapidly, the field worker gave a brief history of the growth and development of the Sunday school work. After this an offering was taken in which the people responded very generously.

The convention stood and was dismissed and so passed into history the 26th annual convention of the Lawrence County Sunday School Association. W.H.V.

Expectant and Nursing Mothers gather strength, rich blood and abundant nourishment from the regular use of Scott's Emulsion. No Alcohol, No Opium.

The funeral services of Hubert Ramey were held at Carter Tuesday evening. The body, the wife and two brothers arrived on the noon train and went immediately to the burying ground at Carter.

Members of the Masonic lodge here attended the funeral and assisted in the Masonic rites.

Mr. Ramey was in the portrait business at Knoxville, Tenn. His business had called him out of town and when he came to cross the river he found the boat on the opposite side. Discarding his clothing, he started to swim to the other shore for the boat, but, when in mid-stream, he appeared to be seized with a cramp which caused his drowning.

He leaves a large number of relatives here. His father and mother live on Buffalo, about two miles from Carter. The wife, who is a Tennessee girl, is young and not very strong, having recently undergone an operation for appendicitis.—Grayson Journal.

MRS. MOUSIE HOPKINS DIES AT CATLETTSBURG.

WOMAN WELL KNOWN IN BIG SANDY VALLEY STRICKEN
BY APOPLEXY.

Mrs. Mousie Martin Hopkins, widow of Capt. John C. Hopkins, and one of the best known and best beloved women in Catlettsburg, died at her home at the residence of her son-in-law, Ed. S. Hughes, on Saturday last, following a stroke of paralysis. She had been attending the Ashland Chautauqua all week and had just returned to her home about 9 a. m. and was stricken by the blow which caused her death a few hours later. Interment followed on Monday afternoon in the Ashland cemetery and was very largely attended. The funeral was held from the residence and was conducted by Dr. Condit, of Ashland, assisted by the pastors of the Catlettsburg churches. She is survived by one son, John, of Ashland, and three daughters, Mrs. J. O. Mathewson, of Ashland, Mrs. Geo. Dimmick, of Huntington, and Mrs. Ed. S. Hughes of Catlettsburg.

Mrs. Hopkins was born in Prestonsburg, Ky., being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Martin. Her father was prominent in Congress for more than one term and was a leader of the Kentucky Legislature at a time when there were mental giants in that body. Her mother, a woman of fine intelligence and culture, was a sister of the late Greenville Lackey, who was one of Louisa's most honored old time merchants. Mrs. Hopkins' ancestral legacy was mind and brain, inherited from some of the best stock of old Virginia and Kentucky, men and women upon whose escutcheon no bar sinister ever appeared, and she, in her life, lived up to the best ideals of her race. In her youth Mrs. Hopkins received a splendid education at one of the best colleges for women in the West. This was supplemented by a more extensive and varied course of reading and study, so that she became in her ripe years one of the best educated and cultured women in this State. She lived and breathed an atmosphere of culture and refinement and was a social favorite everywhere. Passing years brought grandchildren to her knee and silver to her once dark tresses, but time left no chill in her heart nor did it dim the sparkle in her eye.

In her girlhood days, half a century ago, "Mousie Martin" frequently visited friends and relatives in Louisa. Her charm of mind and manner made her popular with our citizens and the few here now whom she knew felt a pang of deep sorrow and regret when the news of her passing reached them. At the marriage of Dr. and Mrs. Wroten, who hope to celebrate their golden wedding next year, Mrs. Hopkins, then Miss Mousie Martin, was Mrs. Wroten's bridesmaid, radiant in health and charming in manner.

JIM GAY

A Story of a Reformed Card Sharp

By ELEANOR MARSH

A man rode up to a settler's cabin in the far west, threw himself from his horse and asked for something to eat. The settler was not at home, but his wife received the stranger, and her daughter, a child of twelve, looked up at the man with a pair of big black eyes wonderingly.

The mother was evidently troubled at his coming, but children are not aware of the differences in persons, and the daughter, who seldom saw any one except her parents, did not seem ill disposed toward him. On the contrary, his arrival was something out of the common in her life. The man was young, not over twenty-five, and not bad looking, but there was something in his appearance to make the elder woman shudder. She set out some bread and meat for him. It was not very tempting, and he asked if it was the best she could do.

"Mother," said the girl, "you have forgotten that you made pies yesterday."

The mother cast a quick reproving glance at her daughter and, going to a cupboard, took out a pie and placed it on the table before the stranger.

"Wouldn't you like a cup of coffee?" asked the child.

"Beckon I would," replied the man.

The woman frowned, but her back was turned toward the man, and he did not see her face. Besides, his attention was fixed on the child, who was instrumental in bringing forth what there was in the larder. He was fighting his way through the world. His hand was against every man, and every man's hand was against him. He was touched by the only kindness he had received in a long while.

The woman made the stranger a cup of coffee, and, having eaten and drunk, he said:

"I've had a square meal, thanks to you, sissy. Now I'm going to have a sleep. In case you hear or see any one coming, little girl, wake me at once."

"If you're sleepy," said the child, "why do you want to be awakened?"

"See here, youngster; if some men come along they're probably hunting for me, and the sooner you awaken me the better it will be for me."

"Why are they hunting you?"

"To hang me."

The girl paled, but asked no further questions. The man stretched himself on a bunk fixed to the wall in the living, dining and bedroom in one, while the woman went to the other room, the kitchen, and washed the dishes. The stranger must have been long without sleep, for no sooner had he stretched himself on the bunk than he fell into a deep slumber.

There is something so infectious, so powerless, about a sleeper as always to attract sympathy. In this case sleep seemed to relax the man's features so that the animosity against mankind so marked upon it when he was awake disappeared. Twenty-one is the very beginning of manhood, and the youngster, his face being in repose, was singularly handsome. Perhaps the girl was old enough to feel drawn to one of the opposite sex. At any rate, she looked upon him sympathetically out of her great black eyes and presently got a blanket and threw it over him. Then, remembering what he had said to her, she went outside and scanned the country roundabout. Far in the distance she saw several men on horseback galloping toward the cabin.

The sleeper was conscious of hearing voices.

"Mother, some men are coming. I'm going to wake him up."

"Do no such thing. He's a desperado, quite likely a horse thief. Let him alone, and they'll get him."

"I won't," they'll hang him."

Then the man felt himself shaken.

He started up.

"They're coming!" said the girl.

The man sprang to the door, shaded his eyes with his hand against the sun, caught the child in his arms, kissed her, vaulted on to his horse and dashed away.

Not long after his departure a posse rode up to the house.

"Anybody been here?" asked one of them.

"Who are you looking for?" asked the woman.

"Jim Gay, the card sharp. He took $500 last night from a greenhorn in Silver City."

"Well," replied the woman, "a young fellow has just been here and lit out. Reckon if you go that a-way (pointing) you'll be on his track."

The men rode on, leaving the mother and daughter together; the latter receiving a scolding for protecting the stranger. The father came in later, and when told that Jim Gay, the card sharp, had been there and had been saved from capture by his daughter he gave her another scolding.

"Who is the fellow, anyway?" asked his wife.

"I never saw him, but they say he's the slickest man at cards in the territory. He doesn't take much interest in doing a sucker. He rather runs to men who pride themselves on being up to all the dodges in the profession. But he's skinned so many of them that they won't tackle him any more."

"Papa," said the girl, "is it wicked to play cards? You play cards sometimes, don't you?"

No response was made to the question. The father's besetting sin was the gambling table.

During five years following this episode the country round about the settler's cabin was filling up, but with that rough element which seeks new countries. Silver was what attracted the crowd, and many were growing rich from the mines. Scarborough, the settler, was in a position to avail himself of opportunities; but, being subject to a passion for gambling, whenever he got a good thing he gambled it away. In vain his wife pleaded with him to keep away from the gambling tables. It is singular how credulous are those who are afflicted with this passion. And yet is not the passion so strong that they are swept away by it, knowing that the chances are all against them?

Meanwhile the little girl who had saved the card sharp was growing to be a woman. She was a serious character, for she lived in a country where she saw a great deal to indicate to her that the world is not a bed of roses. Then, too, she experienced trouble at home. Her father was a bright man, but they say "death loves a shining mark," and it is hard to find a person with a superior intellect who is not handicapped by some glaring defect. Just as soon as Scarborough made a deal by which he pocketed a handsome profit he would go to a gambling den and lose it, and that, too, to men who were his inferiors.

One evening Scarborough, who had just sold a piece of property for $3,000, was being relieved of it by a gang of sharpers. While he was playing a young man of clerical cut and wearing a white cravat entered the den and, taking position in the center of the room, began to speak against the gambling passion. The proprietor looked at him as though uncertain whether to stop him or let him proceed. Seeing that no one in the room paid any attention to the speaker, he chose the latter course.

While the young clergyman was inveighing against the sin of gambling a girl of seventeen entered and, moving straight to Scarborough, put her arms about his neck and begged him to come away.

"Mother says that you will lose all the money received for the sale of the property," she pleaded.

"I've lost it already, but I'll get it back again, and more too."

"Oh, father!"

"Just you go home and tell your mother not to worry. I'll come out all right."

When the girl entered the gambling house the clergyman ceased his remarks on the sin of gambling and fixed his eyes upon her intently. He heard what she said to her father, and when he refused to go away with her the clergyman went over to the table where her father was playing and looked over the game.

"Gents," he said presently, "would you mind a man of the church taking a hand in this game?"

There was a burst of laughter and much chaffing of the clergyman at having preached against gambling and then going back on it. He had said, "But the men at the table, except Scarborough, were all card sharps and thought what a fine thing it would be to fleece a parson. He was admitted to the game with a welcome, and, taking $100 from his wallet, thrust the amount into chips.

Never at that board had such hands been held as by the parson. If the best hand against him was a full of times he held a full of times. When he dealt the cards it seemed that he was enabled to give the others such hands as would draw them out, and he always topped them. The chips all came his way, and before long he had a pile before him that filled the others with envy. Then he said:

"Gents, no more play for chips. Cash them and let the game go on for hard money."

Since he was winner, there could be no objection to this, and the game proceeded on a money basis. When the parson had won more than $2,500 he suggested a jack pot. The betting was opened with a pair of queens. The parson bet so high that he drove all the rest out except one man. When he was called and showed his hand he was found to hold four kings and an ace. He won $500 on that hand alone. Turning to Scarborough, he said:

"How much money did you bring in here?"

"Thirty-two hundred dollars."

The parson counted out the amount, pushed it toward him, deducted the hundred dollars he had begun the game with and left the balance on the table.

"You're a fine person, you are," said the man who had lost the jackpot.

"Who are you, anyway?"

"I'm Jim Gay, who used to be known in these parts for the slickest card shifter of all professions."

"One day, when a posse was after me, I got into the cabin where this man and this girl were living. The girl was a child then, but against her mother's wishes she warned me of the coming of the committee and enabled me to show a clean pair of heels. Somehow I couldn't get her kindness out of my head, and it worked on me till it reformed me. I concluded to get an education to preach, so that I could spend the rest of my life exposing men who fleece and are fleeced. Do you remember me, little girl?"

"Yes, I do."

The three of them took the regained funds to Scarborough's cabin. It was invested in a silver mine and made the family comfortable. The father never gambled again, and Mabel Scarborough, as Gay's wife, is now assisting him in his crusade against gambling.

How Machines do Our Shorthand, Our Bookkeeping, Our Adding, Our Typing, Our Talking,

No hand work can be as accurate as Machine Work.

Our Shorthand Machine—the Stenotype prints shorthand in just the same letters you learned when you were six years old. No hieroglyphics—just plain A, B, C, which anyone can read.

Have you seen it? Well you have something of interest still to see. Make your mind up to look into this little device to-day. It will pay you to do it.

Don't stand still. Don't go backwards. Remember what you said about the Adding Machine, a few years ago.

Write us about your wishes, your ambitions. You will not be the first boy or girl, by many hundreds we have helped solve the problem of "How to make a living."

Are you thinking of training for a profession or a trade?

We used to say "The quickest way to success in any profession is learning Shorthand." We still say so, but by all means learn it the "Machine Way."

Our School has added Shorthand Machines just as we added, years ago, Typewriters, Adding Machines, Mimeographs. (And we have not forgotten to keep them MODERN, etc., because the Public demands new and up-to-date facilities for making the busy man's work easy.

Modern Bookkeeping is very little like what it was thirty years ago.

COURT CALL MEN TO ORGANIZE FOR WORKROAD WORKING DAYS FOR LAW-RENCE COUNTY JULY
20TH AND 21ST.

At its meeting Wednesday the Lawrence Fiscal Court officially recognized the movement started in last month to make July 20th and 21st general road-working days for Lawrence county. It will be expected on those two days that every able bodied male citizen of the county shall go out and work on the roads, or send a substitute or help to furnish a team. Just think what will be accomplished if all respond to this call. This is patriotic work and in these days when patriotism is being awakened all along the line there is no better way to show our spirit in this county than by giving up two days wholly to this great public duty.

The Fiscal Court appointed and recorded the following list of citizens, who are especially called to take up the work in their respective districts and organize in advance of those days. Let these and all other citizens meet at their respective voting places on Saturday, July 15th, at 1:30 o'clock and organize by electing captains of the various squads needed to work effectively. At these meetings there should be reports of the places where work is needed worst. Plans for doing should be adopted, teams arranged for, men divided and assigned, material provided, etc. No detail that can be attended to in advance of the 20th and 21st should be left undone. Changes in location are badly needed in some places. Take this up with the county authorities and land owners immediately and in many instances this can all be accomplished.

Let everybody get in line and join in this great movement with enthusiasm.

Louisa's Part.

The court did not attempt to designate the citizens of Louisa. The County Judge says it was thought best to leave this work for the town to organize and handle as its citizens may think best.

A meeting to organize will be held in time to decide upon the work to be done by the town.

YATESVILLE.

We think we passed a very sane Fourth. Some plowed and hoed corn, some worked in the meadow, some worked in the garden, some mined and hauled coal, some drilled for oil and some cooked dinner. All this we did here. Not that we are not patriotic enough, but it was about the best celebrating that our financial shape would allow at the present time. We noticed a great many from the back country passing into your place on the morning of the Fourth to get some of the ice water and we hope by the time the Fair comes around—(say has a date been fixed?)—to be in shape to come to Louisa and spend two or three days with the good people of your town. Suppose the fair will come about the time the year of corn, the potato, the pumpkin and the cabbage is at their largest, and ready for exhibition.

Well No. 8 on the land of William Savage, which is on offset to the L. N. Hutchison well, will be drilled in today (Monday) and well No. 1 on the land of Doc Carter will be drilled in during the present week as at this writing they are down about 1200 ft. The next is to be on the land of Miss Mary Kelly to which point the machinery from the Savage well No. 7 is to be moved during the present week.

All the sick of our neighborhood are convalescing.

Mrs. M. L. Carter was shopping in Ashland and Catlettsburg a day or so of last week.

We have just had some gentle refreshing showers for which everybody is very thankful.

Master John Elkins of Ashland is spending a few days with his cousins, Dan and Ernest Carter.

The ice cream festival at this place last Saturday night was a very orderly affair. The church house and yard was crowded with people from far and near and not a disorderly word was used or a disorderly motion was made. The proceeds netted up $23.00 clear of expenses, a part of which is to finish paying for two ice cream freezers recently purchased.

Mrs. A. O. Carter, who is at French Lick, Ind., for her health writes to Mrs. Hester Carter here, that she is fast improving which news everybody is pleased to hear.

ADELINE.

Sunday school is progressing nicely at this place.

There will be church here Saturday night and Sunday by Rev. Miller.

Ada Steward and Belva Bellomy attended Sunday school here Sunday evening.

Cora Bell Opel and Effie Burns were visiting Sunday school at Tyree Sunday.

Joe White and Frank Presley and Bob Price all went to Portsmouth, O., where they will work for awhile.

Ruth Bellomy has returned home from Kenova.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wellman paid home folks a visit recently.

Ora Bocook, of Catlettsburg, is visiting friends and relatives at this place.

Elizabeth Rice and Alva Harman were visiting Effie and Goldie White Sunday.

Loy O'Daniels was visiting Addie Harmon Saturday and Sunday.

Raymond White and Fred Humphrey have joined the choir at Tyree and are elarning fast.

SAVES DAUGHTER

Advice of Mother no Doubt Prevents Daughter's Untimely End.

Ready, Ky.—"I was not able to do anything for nearly six months," writes Mrs. Laura Bratcher, of this place, "and was down in bed for three months."

I cannot tell you how I suffered with my head, and with nervousness and womanly troubles.

Our family doctor told my husband he could not do me any good, and he had to give it up. We tried another doctor, but he did not help me.

At last, my mother advised me to take Cardui, the woman's tonic. I thought it was no use for I was nearly dead and nothing seemed to do me any good. But I took eleven bottles, and now I am able to do all of my work and my own washing.

I think Cardui is the best medicine in the world. My weight has increased, and I look the picture of health.

If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, get a bottle of Cardui today. Delay is dangerous. We know it will help you, for it has helped so many thousands of other weak women in the past 50 years.

CASH IN ADVANCE
PLAN TO BE ADOPTED

On October 15th, 1916, the Big Sandy News Subscription List Will be on a New Basis, and the Paper will be Sent Only until the Date Paid in Advance.

INCREASED COST OF PRODUCTION FORCES THIS CHANGE

As announced in the above headline the Big Sandy News will change its policy in handling the subscription list. We are compelled either to increase the subscription to $1.50 per year or to take steps that will stop all leaks and waste. We hope by doing the latter to keep the subscription price at one dollar.

We are making announcement of our new policy several months in advance of its adoption so that all our friends and subscribers will have ample time to get on the new basis.

It has been customary from "time immemorial" almost, for country papers to extend credit to subscribers and to continue sending the paper until death, poverty, disease, hopeless delinquency, or an earthquake caused a break. This is bad business and often times very unsatisfactory. Some people get the impression that the publisher is trying to force the paper on them. This is one thing the publisher of the Big Sandy News can truthfully say he has never intended nor had any desire to do. In soliciting we do not even insist strongly upon anyone subscribing for the paper, because we never want to push it upon any person. Our efforts are directed chiefly to making a paper worth the subscription price. Nevertheless, a few people seem to think the paper is being forced upon them when it continues beyond the date paid for.

On the other hand, we have had a number of subscribers to resent our action in stopping the paper at the expiration of the period paid for, saying it was a reflection on their credit. This is the source from which we anticipate most of the trouble that is likely to come in changing to a strictly cash in advance system. But when the change is made it will be absolutely necessary to enforce it impartially. The mailing list will be in charge of an employee who doesn't know any better than to stop every subscription at its paid expiration.

Although as above stated, the proposition has two sides, we believe our friends and patrons will like the new system better. We ask their kind cooperation in establishing this money business-like plan.

CAN YOU DRINK AND HOLD YOUR JOB

ONE MILLION JOBS IN AMERICA ARE CLOSED TO DRINKERS.

Even Moderate Drinkers Can't Hear or See or Lift as Much as Others.

The attitude of the railways concerning alcohol is tersely and emphatically put in a communication from Mr. W. S. Stone, Grand Chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, who states: "We have no data upon the experience of the organization which would help you, for the reason that our organization does not permit members to remain members who indulge in the use of intoxicating liquors to any noticeable extent. In fact, the rule of nearly all railroads, commonly known as Rule G, prohibits the taking of a single drink, either on or off duty, and men are discharged for frequenting places in which liquor is sold."

In fact the attitude of industry toward alcohol might be tersely summed up in this paragraph from Mr. A. J. Thornley, of the Narragansett Machine Company: "We do not know anything about the scientific side of the bad effect of alcohol on the human system. Our experience in dealing with it from an industrial point of view, however, makes us ready to believe the worst that can be said against it. Its use means inefficiency. It means greater liability to accident, to insubordination, to disorganization. We have proved this to our own satisfaction that the most important rule in our plant is to the effect that 'No drinking man need apply.'"

The great business interests of America are beginning to comprehend that if an office worker takes even a dose of one glass of beer daily he decreases his efficiency by an average of seven per cent. In other words, it would require fifteen men, indulging in one glass of beer daily, to do approximately the work which properly should be done by fourteen abstainers. They are realizing that a drinking man cannot stand extremes of temperature as well, that he cannot hear or see or smell as well, that he cannot lift as much or as often, that he cannot walk as far, dig as much, or carry as enduringly as though he were abstinent. And with what Herbert Spencer would call "altruistic egoism," business is determined that for the mutual interests of workman and employer drinking shall cease.

Mr. J. M. Talbert will handle our finances in the coming campaign and all of our people will know that the campaign funds are safe in his hands. All have confidence in his Democracy and honesty and he will be found in the front this campaign battling for the right and better government in Mingo-co.—Williamson News.

The newspaper men of western Kentucky who did not attend the Press Association meeting at Ashland this week missed a fine opportunity to add to their store of information some very interesting facts about those who saw the sights of this mountain metropolis.

The railroads of the United States are again threatened with a strike by employees for still higher wages and shorter hours. The railroad officials are proposing to submit the question to the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington. This seems to be entirely fair, as this board regulates freight and passenger rates and almost every phase of the railroad business except wages. It would be no more than right to place the matters affecting wages in the hands of the same board. The men composing the Interstate Commerce Commission are high class gentlemen in every respect and can be depended upon to act intelligently and justly on all matters coming before them. They make a study of railroad affairs and are in position to do the right thing by both sides.

Strikes are bad for everybody. If they can be eliminated it will be a great piece of work for both laboring men and employers.

The railways have been regulated to a point where the net earnings are so small that any material change in income or outgo affects them seriously.

It has been demonstrated over and over again that prosperity is never broad in the land when the railroads are losing money. They are the largest purchasers of the products of the biggest mills and factories, and when they quit buying rails and cars and equipment the mills and factories are forced to close. Trains are cut off and railroad crews are discharged. When all this happens business in general goes to the bad. Railroads can not borrow money unless they are earning at least a small rate of interest above the cost of operating and maintaining the property.

These are cold facts which we can not get away from, no matter how our prejudices may tend to lead us. Rest the questions affecting all sides—the public, the employees and the railroads, in the hands of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Mrs. Pigg says: "My back ached and I could hardly endure the dull, heavy pains. I was weak and tired and had no ambition. I had nervous headaches and dizzy spells and was annoyed by the kidney secretions. Doan's Kidney Pills rid me of the whole trouble."

OVER TWO YEARS LATER, Mrs. Pigg said: "The cure Doan's Kidney Pills made has been permanent."

THE HOME CIRCLE AND ITS INTERESTS.

Column Dedicated to Tired Mothers as They Join The Home Circle at Evening Tide.

Many of us miss the joys that might be ours by keeping our eyes fixed on those of other people. No one can enjoy his own opportunities for happiness while he is envious of another's. We lose a great deal of the joy of living by not cheerfully accepting the small pleasures that come to us every day.

Thousands of city people are now counting the hours when they can leave for some lake or river for an outing, where they can fight mosquitoes and bugs for a few days, and perhaps get drowned. It is a great thing and many of our ancestors lived and died not knowing what a vacation or outing meant.

The world is full of women who can amuse the ordinary man. Can sing, dance or recite for him; can paint, write or decorate in a manner most pleasing, but the poor man often goes begging for a woman who can sew on buttons or mend his clothes; who can cook his food with economy and flavor it to his taste.

The children whose horizon is a brick wall, who must play on cobble stones and go swimming in the canal and be chased by the police, if they do not grow up to be ideal citizens, shall we of hollower memories sit in judgment upon them. Shall we not remember the weight they carry in the race of life and be thankful we live in this beautiful country of ours?

Some courage is needed to be natural and a higher kind of courage, too, than that which marches behind the safe end of a gun. That moral courage which is not intimidated by appearance nor cowed by custom is a finer article than the daring of the speculator, or the steady nerve of the soldier in physical peril. It takes bravery of the best stamp to be true to oneself.

How much happier we all would be if we would attempt to build instead of tearing down; how much sweeter our lives would be, if we would encourage, by kind words, those of our fellowmen and fellowwomen who have fallen by the wayside, extend a helping hand, whisper words of encouragement in their ear, and, oh! how much brighter our lives and theirs would be. Give no heed to the tattler and gossip, turn a deaf ear, and tell them you are otherwise engaged, when you find them inclined to talk and very soon the tattlers will find their profession gone.

The school boy should really learn the lesson that the ripest, biggest cherries are at the top and that nine out of ten of his fellows will be crowding for places to pick around the base of the tree where the small, wormy fruit grows. There is plenty of room at the top; there are plenty of cherries growing there. The luscious fruit is ready for the picking and ever smiles a welcome to the hustler to climb up and obtain possession. The best things in life require considerable effort to get, and that's why the strongest men and women have them.

It is not pleasant to record the truth that there are mothers who have sacrificed motherhood to worldly ambition, and the most happy women on earth are those who have set aside filialties in order to live lives of social frivolity, and the time comes to all such, when the bloom of youth forsakes the cheek, and the fire of youth dies out of the eye. Such often turn to their homes for sympathy and love, only to find that they, too, have vanished, and when it is too late the sad truth dawns upon them that they are unloved and unloved. The path of duty is the only safe path, let it be ever so thorny, and the only safe guide-board points to the christian home.

There should live in the depths of every human heart one warm and sunny spot where nestles the images of earthly love and the sweet remembrances of childhood home. The memory of those first impressions made upon the baby's mind and heart will live forever. Oh, how fleeting are days of childhood. Dear mother, shall you permit yourselves to be so "cumbered about much serving" that the rich garden of your child's soul will lie neglected with foul weeds choking out all worthy and beautiful growth?

Our political speakers appeal only to partisan feelings and your pocket-book. You never hear them using their eloquence in an honest endeavor to better our homes which are the foundation stones upon which rests all our laws and institutions, both state and national. When the homes are right the entire country will be right. The question that affects the morals and purity of our homes are the real and vital questions. The voters who go out from moral, pure homes, will place moral and pure men in office, who will give us honest and pure railroad and tariff regulations. All we need is moral and pure homes so as to supply us with a majority of the voters.

It is the person rather than the occupation that adds dignity to labor. There are those who can beautify the most menial occupation or service and there are others who can degrade the most honorable calling.

TRAINING YOUNG TREES.

Those of Rapid Growth Require Less Attention.

Importance of training young trees so they will become straight and well proportioned is emphasized by W. B. Layton, greenhouse overseer at the Kansas State Agricultural college. A growing tree in winter may be bent by the weight of ice or snow, and wind blowing from one direction for several days may produce the same result. Trees of rapid growth are less likely to require careful attention than those that take longer to develop, says Mr. Layton. Oaks, elms, pines, firs and apples are among those that usually tend away from erect growth. The maple and cottonwood trees of quick growth shoot up straight and tall.

The common method of training a tree is first to drive a stake firmly into the ground beside it and then place a strap around both tree and stake, says this authority. Animals often injure trees, particularly apple trees. As a protection, a wire netting twelve to fifteen inches high is used to inclose the base of the tree. A trellis-like frame is also made for the protection and training of small trees in parkings. A young tree which has become crooked may be straightened, but a "kink" will remain.

Rape Growing in Kansas.

Rape is well adapted to the soil and climatic conditions of eastern Kansas and is proving particularly valuable to farmers who depend entirely upon pasture crops in hog feeding. Many persons are planning to grow some rape next season.

"Under favorable conditions an abundance of pasture for hogs, sheep or cattle may be had the entire season on good lands in the three eastern tiers of counties," says Ralph Kenney, assistant professor of agronomy in the Kansas State Agricultural college. "To produce this result a patch of rape should be sown every two or three weeks."

"When the hogs or other stock have eaten most of the leaves from the first patch they are turned on to the second patch. By the time a third patch is eaten down the first is ready for pasture again, but the rape should be a foot high before the stock are turned on to it."

"In cool, moist seasons, such as the one just past, rape does exceptionally well when sown in the cornfield between Aug. 15 and Sept. 1. It will be ready for pasture by Oct. 1 and will furnish good pasture for three to five weeks if not pastured too heavily. On good bottom lands the rape may be sown with oats in spring and will furnish pasture for several weeks after the oats are cut."

POULTRY NOTES.

In mating the first quality to select in either male or female is vigor. It matters little how fine the birds may be, if they lack vigor the chickens will be difficult to rear and few be worth the trouble of rearing. Without vigor, beauty is of small moment. Indeed, beauty is largely dependent upon this foundation quality. Don't sell an inferior bird alive. You can't afford to have your stock advertised by such specimens.

To induce winter egg production hens should be provided with spring-like conditions, according to W. A. Lippincott, professor of poultry husbandry in the Kansas State Agricultural college. "Hens stop laying in winter because they miss the warmth, the green food and the worms and bugs they get in the spring," says Professor Lippincott. "The important requirements in the care of the fowls in the winter are that they shall take sufficient exercise, have succulent food and be supplied with some form of protein such as skim milk or beef scraps to take the place of the insects which they consume in the spring."

In Memorial.

The memorial service conducted at the M. E. Church South Sunday, July 2, in honor of Rev. W. J. Keith, one of the pioneer preachers of the Methodist church in these parts, was a great occasion.

A number of the older people who knew Bro. Keith years ago were present to honor his memory and others who were not able to attend sent letters expressing their desire to be present.

The pastor of the church called Rev. John Martin of Huntington, W. Va., to make the address of the hour. The sermon memorial was a master piece and the audience was thrilled with the God sent message.

Hon. R. T. Burns, of Louisville, a friend and an associate of Bro. Keith in his last years of ministry, was present and in words eloquent and powerful portrayed the nobility of character possessed by this patriarch now ascended.

The service throughout was touching and beautiful. The hymns were "How Firm a Foundation," "Faith of Our Fathers" and "How tedious and tasteless the Hours." Miss Josephine Harkins gave an instrumental selection that was well received.

Mr. D. O. Harmon, a grand nephew of Bro. Keith was called upon by the pastor, Rev. J. W. Jackson, to unveil the handsome picture presented to the church by one of the sons and Bro. James May and L. Hatcher. While the concluding hymn was being sung the people passed by and viewed the picture and enjoyed an old-fashioned handshake.

Sunday Evening, July 2.—The choir of the Methodist church gave a program of music that was well received by a splendid audience. In fact it was one of the best church evenings for quite awhile. There were given congregational hymns, choruses, duets, solos, and instrumentals.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Nancy Thompson was born Dec. 21, 1834 and died May 25, 1916, aged 81 years, 5 months and 4 days. She was converted about 49 years ago and was a member of the Missionary Baptist church and died in the Christian faith. She was the wife of Squire M. B. Thompson, who had long since passed on to the good world. She leaves to mourn the loss one son, two daughters and several grandchildren and a host of relatives. Her burial was attended to by the Odd Fellows of the Mattie lodge, of which her husband was a member. The services at the house were conducted by the Rev. A. H. Miller, after which the order took charge of the services and laid the remains to rest in the home graveyard, beside her husband, to await the call of the Judgment day. A. H. M.

New York, July 5, 1916.

My dear Mr. Editor:—In a recent issue of The News I saw an item about the B. & O. absorbing the E. Ky. Railway, in which you mentioned Pennsylvania and Hunnewell Furnaces as parts of the original tract purchased by the E. Ky. Company, and it started me on the road to reminiscence.

I lived at Pennsylvania Furnace as a small boy during the Civil War and that was as near to fighting as I ever attained. I don't recall definite dates quite so far back as "before the war," but I think it was in 1854 that my father, William H. Lampton, traded his home in Catlettsburg to William Patton for his interest in Pennsylvania. William Patton, generally known as "Old Billy Patton" (as my father was later known as "Old Billy Lampton"). I being young Billy) was the father of the Catlettsburg Pattons, William, James and Miss Belle, as I remembered them in later years.

This house on the hillside, still occupied, I believe, by some of the family, was, when my father built it in 1854, the finest residence by all odds in eastern Kentucky and had enough so-called "modern conveniences" of that period as to make it an object of current wonder. It cost to build, $12,500, an amount for that time quite unusual in those parts. My father used to say, however, that it was not an extravagant expenditure—he was pretty close—because it was less than half his income for that year. For eighteen years previously, he had been associated with David Sinton and Thomas W. Means in old Union Furnace in Lawrence county, Ohio, the last five years as a partner and his third of the profit for the last year that Union ever ran, was $25,000. Not so bad for the times before the country had millionaires scattered all over it. Union was the first furnace built in Ohio, and in the Hanging Rock Region, and Mr. Sinton, who was the manager in 1837, heard of my father as manager over at one of the Little Sandy River water furnaces, Hopewell in Carter county, and invited him to Union. Father went and for ten years the two men lived at Union, rooming together, and pounding away at the old furnace, which they advanced from a daily product of four tons up to as many as eight on special occasions. Mr. Sinton often told me, many years afterwards when he was a Cincinnati millionaire several times over and I boarded just across the street from his Pike Street home, that the happiest days of his life were when he and my father as young men used to stand in the meadow below the furnace and watch the blue smoke rise from its chimney—indicating it was working well—while they talked about their future. I used to go over occasionally and sit with him of evenings and he never talked of anything else except his days at Union furnace, for I was the only person to whom he could so talk. The last time I saw him he was old then, confused as with my father and began talking as though to him, but caught himself quickly and went on as though he had not made the slip.

However, I am digressing—growing garrulous, eh?

My father built the Catlettsburg house for himself and family as he had expected to do the river business for Star Furnace in Carter county which he had built, but after about eighteen months of life so close to the river fogs the doctors told him he would have bronchitis or something worse and he traded the house to Mr. Patton for the Pennsylvania interest and went back into the hills. This tract comprised 13,000 acres which carried plenty of timber for charcoal and ore and lime for iron making. Father's partner was Louis Duval Ross, of Greenup, and they were associated until Mr. Ross' death about 1862 or '63. Later father rented from Mrs. Ross her husband's half interest and was so running it in 1864-65 when he negotiated its sale to Boston and New York capitalists for $100,000, or a little more than $750 an acre. At the same time these eastern men bought Greenup furnace, naming it later Hunnewell for one of the Boston men. This tract contained 22,000 acres and was, I believe, owned by a number of persons. There was no coal of any sort, except in small quantities, on the Pennsylvania tract, but Greenup was supposed to have unlimited quantities of cannel coal and an oil factory had been built there using the coal, the furnace being discontinued. When the furnace was sold, to the new owners who built the E. Ky. Railway and owned other industrial to the two furnaces, this oil factory was discontinued and the mines were opened extensively only to peter out within a very short time. The railroad was built from Riverton to Greenup, or Hunnewell, and while it never hauled much cannel coal, it did haul a large quantity of pig iron which the newly reconstructed furnace began to turn out. Pennsylvania had never made more than twelve or fourteen tons a day and old Greenup had not been as successful, but the new Hunnewell went well up into the twenty-ton-a-day list and made money. What has become of it in these years later I do not know.

My father left Pennsylvania early in 1865 moving his family from Ashland to Portsmouth, O. and taking with him for his share of Pennsylvania real estate and his stock of iron and other personal property something over a hundred thousand dollars in real money. That ought to have been enough to have made him comfortable for the rest of his days—he was then fifty-two—but he could not keep out of the iron business and by and by went into Star Furnace again as the monied man of the concern. After a few years he was not as monied as he had been and Star went to pieces, as the first stone furnace, involving him to such an extent that he was saved only by a sale of Star tract of 9,500 acres to the Norton Iron Works of Ashland for $100,000. He took $25,000 stock in the Norton, which slumped by and by to considerably less than par, and two shares of which I know Mr. John Means of Ashland allowed me fifty cents of the dollar for when I bought that newspaper in Ashland which he had bought in at a Sheriff's sale and on which I began my literary career, in 1877.

The Pennsylvania tract has never developed into a tract of wealth, but an interesting feature in connection with it is that Mr. James Hoop who had been my father's chief engineer and foundryman (furnace superintendent) for years, was placed in charge of the property by the new owners and he is there today, owning now part of it as his home farm. In looking back over the years it seems to me that Mr. Hoop must be about two hundred and fifty years old, but I fancy he is not. When I last heard from him he was quite active and knocking around the place as usual. My father died in 1893 at Winchester in Clark county, where he was born in 1813.

In conclusion I would like to ask where along Sandy is the site of Sandy furnace. I knew of it when I first went to Pennsylvania when it had quit as an unsuccessful proposition. Its manager and part owner, Mr. Gibson, had a small daughter who came to Pennsylvania to live with relatives when he died. I don't know its location but I think it was in Lawrence county, though it may have been in the southern part of what was then Greenup county. Some of our old timers ought to know about it, because I know there are people among your readers who are older than I am—Tip Moore for instance. Ask him.

Hoping this brief reminiscence will not tire anybody more than the law allows, I am as usual.

Most sincerely,

W. J. LAMPTON.

LETCHER COUNTY
AND WHITESBURG.What is Happening in this Rich Coal Territory of Kentucky.

WHITESBURG, KY., July 11.—Deputy Sheriff's Sam Collins and Felix G. Fields, this city and James Tolliver, Baker, made a raid on illegal resorts in Neon in the coal fields of the county Sunday afternoon capturing several cases of whiskey and forty barrels of beer and maltina. The goods were expressed to this city where a general smashing took place. Officers arrested Jimmie Clevinger, G. E. Reed, Ass. Sizemore, Frank Hickson and Ed Brannham, who were brought to Whitesburg jail pending a thorough probe. Sam Collins is U. S. Commissioner. For six years previous he served as Deputy Collector and was a former U. S. Marshal, having been in the revenue service for over twelve years. When Sheriff Charles H. Back left July 3rd for Ft. Thomas to become captain of Company D. Judge Collins accepted the position of deputy sheriff with a determination that the whiskey and beer traffic in Neon must end. The raid Sunday afternoon was well planned and proved a success.

Grand juries for the past year have made wholesale indictments against the operators, and Judge John F. Butler has shown no leniency having assessed fines to the limit of the law, but the traffic has increased to an alarming extent. Judge Collins has proven a terror to whiskey traffickers and their nefarious work. The officers will not cease until every illegal resort in the county is similarly dealt with.

Telephone advice from the Maces creek and Leatherwood sections below here near the Letcher-Perry border is to the effect that "Barlow Bill" Combs aged about 60 was assassinated as he was walking along the roadway a few days ago. He was shot three times with a shot gun, seemingly at close range. Combs was known by many people throughout Letcher county where he has relatives and friends. It is believed that trouble between Combs and his wife finally led on to the assassination.

Nathan Ingle was arrested a few days later charged with the crime, and it is said other arrests are likely.

Contracts have been awarded to R. B. Franklin, the contractor to further complete the splendid new high and graded school on College Hill here and contractor Franklin has begun the work. It will be rushed rapidly forward in order for its use at the regular term of the school. This is a step in the right direction and the members of the board are to be congratulated.

Mining work is increasing right along throughout the coal fields. During the week several hundred were brought in to the county. It is said they will be employed by The Elk Horn Coal Corporation and The Consolidation Coal Co. in their Fleming-McRoberts territory. There is unusual activity.

W. D. Sutton, Pikeville, is starting off nicely on the grade work of The South East Coal Co. between Craftsville and Sergeant in this county. Active building work is to be started by the company at once, while the opening of mines will follow. Everything possible will be done to rush the work so that mining can be started.

Announcement was made here a few days ago of the marriage June 30, in Lexington of Miss Ethel Webb, aged 18, pretty daughter of postmaster N. M. Webb to Mr. Edward Vermillion.

DANGERS REAL AND FANCIED.

The average woman will scream with terror at the sight of an innocent little mouse, and then complacently sit down and suffer in silence with diseases that are destroying her youth, her beauty, her very life. She will uncomplainingly resign herself to the woes and miseries of female troubles, which are to be dreaded a thousand times more than a tiny mouse. It is gratifying to know that untold numbers of women are being restored to perfect vigor and strength by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It benefits uterine disorders. The exact name of the disease doesn't amount to a row of pins. It is in the womanly organs, "Favorite Prescription" will hunt it out and benefit it. It can be a drain, a pain, an inflammation, an irregularity or a weakness, and this medicine will act as a true tonic and help restore the organs to healthy action. It prepares the girl to become a woman; the wife to become a mother, the middle-aged to pass the "turn of life" in safety. It is not a "cure-all" but a medicine for women only; and is the prescription of Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., the world-famed specialist in the treatment of disorders of women. Any reader of this paper may consult Dr. Pierce free by mail.

Covington, Ky.—"I had 'Favorite Prescription' recommended to me. I had to overcome some conditions of nervousness and was run down. When I began using 'Favorite Prescription' I lacked ambition and strength. I used two bottles and it proved a strengthening and in every way beneficial medicine."—Miss MOLLIE KENTON, 1338 Greenup St.

Another marriage of like interest took place at Blackey when Mr. W. M. Piersall, aged 39, leading Blackey merchant was married to Miss Janie Sargent, aged 24, the marriage taking place after a brief courtship.

After a very severe two weeks drought good rains fell over Letcher county from Saturday night until Monday evening greatly reviving everything. The late Irish potato crop suffered perhaps most but most all kinds of crops were injured. Farmers are much encouraged.

This has been an unusually dry season so far.

The new train service between McRoberts and Lexington became effective Monday, the 10, the Jackson accommodation train having been discontinued. It is believed this train will be a great improvement over the other service. It will permit passengers to leave Whitesburg as late as 12:37 p.m. and arrive in Lexington at 8 o'clock of the same day. The railroad company is to be congratulated upon its splendid service.

PIKE COUNTY NEWS

W. C. T. U. MET AT THE DERRIANA DORMITORY.

On Tuesday the W. C. T. U. of Pikeville met at the Derriana Dormitory to make up linens for the hospital that is to be in operation from July 18th to 21st. At which time Dr. John McMullen, Surgeon in the United States Public Health Service, and assistants, together with Dr. McCormack of Kentucky Board of Health, and Miss Linda Neville, of the Kentucky Society for the prevention of blindness, will be here to treat any ones eyes free of charge for Trachoma.

This is a rare opportunity that is not often to be had in Pikeville so the people of the county needing this attention should take advantage of it.

PICNIC ON LOVERS LAP.

On last Monday evening a party of young people went up on Lovers Leap to take supper. The members of this party were Misses Mary, Martha and Ruth Crawford, Elsie Davenport, Ruth Burk, Mary Morgan, Mrs. R. L. Miller and Mrs. Ed Holley with her guest Miss Helen Whitney, Messrs. Edgar and Frank Dameron and W. S. Phlegar. They reported a lovely time.

MOTOR PARTY WENT TO PRESTONSBURG.

On last Sunday Miss Elva Bevins, Miss Ruth Burke, Mr. Lewis Stone and Charley Keyser went to Prestonsburg in a car. They spent a very pleasant day with the exception of a breakdown which caused a delay of about one hour. They returned home about 7:30 Sunday evening.

MRS. HOLLEY ENTERTAINS.

Mrs. Edward Holley entertained the "Arachne Club" Wednesday afternoon at her home on Main-st., in honor of her guest Miss Helen Whitney, of New Jersey. The house was decorated throughout with quantities of nasturtiums and sweet peas.

During the afternoon Miss Whitney sang several selections in her most artistic way.

The elaborate two course luncheon was served en fresco.

The guests were Misses Helen Whitney, Mary Morgan, Lorraine Bowles, Elsie Davenport, Ruth Burke, Tot York, Gertrude Mayo, Martha Crawford, Elva Bevins, Ruth Crawford, Sarah Williamson, Mary Crawford, Alma Matney, Mrs. John W. Langley, Mrs. Anthony Williams, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. H. H. Stallard, Mrs. A. S. Reese, Mrs. J. R. Johnson, Mrs. Harry Mitchell, Mrs. John Madison Hatcher, Mrs. Robert L. Miller and Miss Kate Berry.

DINNER PARTY FOR MRS. EDWARD HOLLEY AND GUEST.

Mrs. John W. Langley was host Friday night at dinner in honor of Miss Helen Whitney of New Jersey, guest of Mrs. Edward Holley, decorations of red, white and blue, symbolic of Independence day, and sweet peas, roses and nasturtiums were used most artistically. The table appointments were most attractive, with miniature sailor lads, and "Uncle Sam" much in evidence, protecting the American flags. Covers were laid for fifteen and every one spent a delightful evening.

A WINNER IN THE RACE FOR APPELLATE JUDGE

JUDGE ANDREW J. KIRK

JUDGE KIRK ENDORSED BY ONE OF THE LEADING REPUBLICAN PAPERS

In this issue we are announcing the candidacy of Judge Andrew J. Kirk, of Johnson-co., for the Republican nomination for Judge of the Court of Appeals for the Seventh District, subject to the State-wide primary of next August. Judge Kirk was the nominee of the Republicans for this important position four years ago and was defeated by Judge Turner, Democrat, because of the unfortunate Progressive split in the party at that time. The great fight he made in this race when it was almost certain that enough Progressives would take part to insure the election of a Democrat gained him the admiration of all parties and factions and it is the general opinion that he should have the nomination this year when success is certain. Judge Kirk is one of the greatest jurists in Kentucky. With fifteen years experience on the Circuit Court bench he is eminently qualified to fill with great credit to himself and the State a place on Kentucky's highest tribunal. A Republican to the core and for years a leader of the G. O. P. in Eastern Kentucky, he was an unusually nonpartisan jurist, and his court in Eastern Kentucky gained wide fame. Judge Kirk is a man of splendid native ability, fine legal education and rugged honesty, characteristic of the mountains. He is the logical candidate of the Republicans this year in view of the unfortunate circumstances which brought about his defeat four years ago—a condition for which he was in no wise to blame and of which he was an innocent victim. Judge Kirk presided as Special Judge over the Montgomery Circuit Court a few years ago and made a splendid impression. We ask that all Republicans give his candidacy for the Appellate Bench thoughtful consideration.—Mt. Sterling Gazette.

It is now conceded by the people of this the Seventh Appellate District that Judge Kirk is the most available man for the Republican nomination for Judge. It will be well remembered that Judge Kirk was the nominee of the Republican party four years ago to fill the unexpired term caused by the resignation of Judge Ed C. O'Rear, and at that time the Republican party was split almost in twain. The Bull Moose party had brought forth a candidate in the person of Hon. J. D. White, who was a very able man and an orator who carried several thousand voters from the Republican ranks, which was taken from Judge Kirk, notwithstanding all these embarrassing conditions, Judge Kirk received 2,000 more votes than President Taft.

We are free to say that Judge Kirk's 12 years service on the bench as Circuit Judge in a district where every kind of litigation fell to his lot, places him the peer, if not the superior of any of his opponents. His rulings have always been fair and impartial, whether for the poor or rich, and his integrity has never been questioned.

We are informed that Judge Kirk has been reversed less in the Court of Appeals than any Judge in the State, considering the amount of cases tried by him.

It would be unfair for the Republican party to now turn Judge Kirk down and give the nomination to some other man, after making the gallant and game fight which he did, when he knew that defeat was inevitable, but that he might maintain and uphold the principles of his party, "He kept the faith and fought the good fight."

We urge all good loyal Republicans to rally to Judge Kirk, and help him receive this nomination, which is equivalent to his election, and the people of Eastern Kentucky will have a Judge upon the Appellate bench, of which they will be proud.—Salyersville Herald, Salyersville, Ky.

RECITAL GIVEN BY MISS MAYS' MUSIC CLASS.

A musicale was given Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of Miss Gertrude Mays, on College-st., by the first and second grade pupils of her class. The little girls taking part on the program were Misses Julia Virginia Hatcher, Nannie Morgan, Serilda Huffman, Fay Greer, Bertha McCown, Anna Louise Huffman, Faustina Pauley, and Margaret Cornett, and with such self control and musical ability did they perform their exercises and pieces that it is predicted for them a possibility of musical career.

The guests were many and Miss Alma Matney and Mrs. Hatcher assisted Miss Mays in serving tea and sandwiches.

est to Kentucky friends of Mrs. Duffey and daughter, Miss Lillian. Mrs. Duffey was Miss Lockie Picklesimer and is the daughter of Jas. Picklesimer, of this city.

One of the pleasant and most cheerful homes we have in Sumter county, is that of Mr. and Mrs. Duffey, comparatively new comers from Kentucky.

We must not fail to mention also her bright daughter, Lillian, who is a great factor in the making up of this delighful home. Mr. Duffey, among other farm products, we believe, is in the lead on sweet potatoes, which will be ready for market by the first of Aug-
